DID YOU KNOW?

We still use Roman numbers today! The Roman numeral was not only invented in Ancient Rome but used all over Europe into the middle ages.

The Romans gave us our calendar. In 46 BC when Julius Caesar was in Alexandria, he marveled at their calendar which was based on the solar year. After Caesar's trip he instated the new Julian calendar which would be 365 days with an extra day at the end of February every 4 years - the leap year!
